

What Is Grand Larceny in Virginia? (Grand Larceny Definition)

In Virginia, grand larceny refers to stealing someone else's property with the intent to permanently deprive them of it. It is classified as a felony offense under Virginia law and is one of the most serious theft charges you can face.

Penalties for Grand Larceny in Virginia (Grand Larceny Punishment)

If you are convicted of grand larceny in Virginia, the penalties can be severe. As a felony, the charge carries up to 20 years in prison.

Key Aspects of Grand Larceny

Punishment:

- Prison Sentence: Grand larceny in Virginia is a Class 5 felony, punishable by 1 to 20 years in prison. A judge may also impose a reduced sentence if it's your first offense.
- Fines: A conviction can also result in a fine of up to $2,500.

- Theft and Intent: They must show you intended to steal and permanently deprive the owner of their property.

- Property Value: The prosecution must demonstrate the value of the stolen property meets the grand larceny threshold of $1,000 or more. Disputing the value of the stolen items can reduce the charge from grand larceny to petit larceny.